About ToKToL

ToKToL is a startup founded to provide a new way of learning. By using insights from a broad range of disciplines, ToKToL makes learning fun and effective.

Students are actively challenged by fast-paced and highly adaptive quizzes. Answers are explained thoroughly so that students gain deep understanding of the subject. The material is adjusted to the strengths and weaknesses of each individual. Cutting-edge statistical algorithms ensure that questions will never be too easy to be boring or too hard to be frustrating. The algorithms also detect specific weaknesses and select material to address them.

ToKToL is building a large bank of quizzes and explanations to completely cover the requirements of O- and A-level science syllabi. This will make ToKToL an excellent tool to accompany students during their secondary school and junior college years. It will be particularly useful in the final exam preparation phase. ToKToL's diagnostic assessment algorithms allow teachers to uncover and address any individual problems. The effectiveness of learning with ToKToL enables teachers to free up time normally used for revision to focus on communication and creative skills.
