

Ms Chan,
Reference your ST Forum letter on 26 June 2004.

What e-commerce are we talking about when I had been receiving e-mails for viagra, drugs, US home loans, degrees and diplomas and goodness knows what else.

On average, I receive about twenty (20) such e-mails daily which I have to delete.

Do you really think that I will notify the senders to take me off their lists?

Unsolicited e-mails are akin to advertisers stuffing cigarette butts and rubbish under your door and it seems that there is nothing we can do about it

The world wide web had been with us for some time now and it's time we seriously look into the problems with spam.

Yours faithfully,
Patrick Leow
