

The acquisition of OpenNet by Netlink Trust, a SingTel subsidiary, should be not be allowed to go forward. If such is the case, there will exist another monopoly. As with any monopoly in Singapore, price hikes and alterations to services will eventually happen. Service quality is also prone to suffer in such cases, eg SingNet, SingTel Mio TV and Singtel Mobile.

If the acquisition is approved, what will happen to consumers from other service providers?

Please consider this very carefully.

Sincerely,
Max Ong
