MADE FOR EVERY SCREEN

WHERE STORIES ARE MADE FOR GLOBAL SCREENS

Great stories deserve the right support to reach the world.

Powering Singapore's media landscape, the Infocomm Media Development Authority (IMDA) actively connects storytellers with the partners, resources, and expertise to bring stories to global audiences.

From world-class production reliability and strategic support to deep industry expertise, we shape stories from script to screen to sale—working alongside award-winning local creatives and globally connected partners.

Built on Singapore's infrastructure, talent, and partnerships, your ideas don't just come to life. They travel, resonate, and find audiences everywhere.

Ready to make it happen? So are we.

A COLLABORATION THAT ACTUALLY WORKS

From Singapore's connected media hub, your stories can reach audiences across cultures and continents.

BUILT FOR GLOBAL REACH

Singapore's cultural authenticity strengthens storytelling, enabling films and TV series to connect deeply with international audiences while staying true to their identity.

PRODUCTION YOU CAN TRUST

From structured milestone funding and seasoned creative teams to advanced production infrastructure, Singapore enables projects at every stage of the production journey.

PROVEN IMPACT

With award-winning creatives, globally connected networks, and proven production success, your stories travel further, resonate deeper, and make an impact worldwide.

JAMES MCNEILL WHISTLER

James McNeill Whistler was one of the great innovators of 19th-century art. A provocative and theatrical figure, he pursued beauty and “art for art’s sake” with absolute conviction, pushing the boundaries of painting, printmaking, and design. A contemporary of the Impressionists and admired by Van Gogh and Manet, Whistler drew inspiration from music, naming many of his works “arrangements”, “harmonies” and “nocturnes”.

LET ME TELL YOU A STORY 2

Revisit Singapore’s formative years in this three-part CNA series, which premiered on the nation’s 60th National Day, capturing the people, places, and spirit that shaped a young country. From the colourful rides before the world-class transport system in How We Moved, to the coastal communities and bustling port that powered the nation in Tales from the South, and finally to Sembawang’s transformation from crocodile swamp to naval stronghold in The Naval Giant, the series uncovers the stories that bring Singapore’s past vividly to life.

DEATH LOANS - THAILAND'S CYANIDE MURDERS

At the centre of the case is Sararat Rangsiwuthaporn, widely known as “Aem Cyanide”, whom police came to suspect in a number of deaths across Thailand. What began as an investigation into individual cases soon widened as police uncovered possible connections between them. Cyanide became a key focus, while questions emerged over money and the ‘sharing circle’ relationships which Aem had with some who died. With rare access to those closest to the case, we take a look at the investigation that gripped Thailand and left families searching for answers. As new details come to light, it traces how suspicion fell on Aem and examines the evidence that turned a series of mysterious deaths into one of Thailand’s most extraordinary criminal investigations.

DOUBLE YUMMY S2

Double Yummy explores the vibrant and diverse food cultures of Taiwan and Singapore through the eyes and taste buds of two respective hosts—Yasminne Cheng from Singapore and Andrew Chau from Taiwan. Each episode delves into how common ingredients, such as chicken, fish, or noodles are interpreted, prepared, and enjoyed in each city. By highlighting the unique culinary traditions and the fascinating similarities and differences between the two regions, this program not only serves as a delicious journey for the audience but also offers a glimpse of societal and cultural significance in Singapore and Taiwan. From street food vendors to high-end restaurants, the series showcases how food serves as a bridge between generations, communities, and even countries. We round off the episode by inviting chefs with culinary accolades from either city to do a reinterpretation of the dish featured in the episode.
