REIMAGINING MADE-WITH-SINGAPORE CONTENT FOR GLOBAL AUDIENCES

NOTABLE INTERNATIONAL COLLABORATIONS

From exciting animations for children to remarkable documentaries to heartfelt dramas, Singapore's showrunning companies are not only keeping audiences entertained, but they are also increasingly recognised around the world through various platforms. Through international collaborations, Made-with-Singapore content has reached beyond the local arena and onto the global stage.

A three-way co-production amongst Singapore, France and Italy, "Alex Player" is a real-time animation series that follows the story of a pre-teen video gamer extraordinaire, as he juggles life at school in the intensive lead-up to win the national inter-schools 'Land of Titans' championship. This series, co-produced by showrunner Seng Choon Meng, allows Scrawl Animation to pioneer Asia's digital native animation pipeline in Singapore.

An enthralling and visually spectacular documentary, "Evolve", filmed in 4 continents, will explore how humanity can solve many of the fundamental issues facing us today by "mimicking" the incredible innovations found in nature. "Evolve" is produced by Beach House Pictures for Curiosity Stream and led by showrunner Jerry Decker, with Jocelyn Little, Donovan Chan and Rob Sixsmith serving as executive producers. The series has gone on to win GOLD at the New York Festivals TV & Film Awards for Documentary (Science & Technology) and Streaming (Educational).

Sci-fi romantic comedy "Venus on Mars" is a high concept 6-part series that follows an undergraduate student as she is accidentally transported to a parallel world of only men, where she re-evaluates her thoughts on feminism and equality between genders, life, and love. The series is led by Mocha Chai Laboratories, with Chai Yee Wei as showrunner and Michelle Chang as producer, in collaboration with CJ ENM Hong Kong (Singapore branch) and award-winning Taiwanese scriptwriters and producers.

HBO Asia's "Folklore Season 2" is a 7-part horror drama series that makes a comeback with another season, across 7 different Asian territories, namely Singapore, Indonesia, Japan, Malaysia, Philippines, Taiwan and Thailand. The series examines the human condition when exposed to supernatural phenomena in a mind-bending race against oneself, with each story providing a different take and perspective. With each episode helmed by a local director from that territory, the line-up features Eric Khoo of Zhao Wei Films as the series' creator and showrunner, that takes audiences to the edge of their seats.

With markets back open after the pandemic and global players looking to tap on the diverse stories in this region, IMDA stands ready to celebrate authentic story ideas for global audiences, created and produced by highly sought-after showrunners.

DOCUMENTARY

BROTHERS IN ARMS

"Brothers in Arms" is a documentary with the tone and intrigue of a mystery. Gangs and guns controlled Singapore in the 1970s, until a group of lawmakers worked to take them down. Into the rabbit hole of possibilities still surrounding the brothers' deaths, the documentary re-examines all the whys, what-ifs, and maybes that remain five decades later. Like the narrative that drives it, "Brothers in Arms" doesn't take any sides, instead it toes the line between fact and humanity.

RIOT ISLAND

A deserted island is transformed into a prison without bars, holding some of society's most hardened gangsters. During the early 1960s, Singapore undertook a revolutionary social experiment - to rehabilitate feared mobsters through hard work. These men built a sprawling prison complex but just three years later they rioted, razing the settlement to the ground, and murdering four servicemen. It sent shock waves around the world and set in motion one of the largest criminal trials of the era.
