In Singapore, school dropout Choo (16) returns to her elite all-girls Chinese school and attracts the admiration of three fellow misfits — Vanessa, Gina, and Sofia — after small acts of rebellion. Confiding about the ghost in her room, the four decide to document it with Sofia's camcorder. Inspired by Sofia's family driver Uncle Phoon (70) and his stories of triad gangs in colonial Singapore, they form their own gang — but how do you pull that off in modern Singapore, where even chewing gum is illegal?
